Hi! I'm Michael. I'm twenty-two and I live in Boston. I'm a computer programmer in a big company and this is my full-time job.
My working day starts at nine and finishes at five. I usually have a break at 1p.m. I work a lot because I have to check some programs and make some new program modules for my company. I have three assistants; they work at their tables opposite me. Sometimes we discuss different ways of solving the problems. I can say that our programs are new and useful. I love my job and I like to invent something new. It is a very interesting job.
